Victory Funds Letter to Shareholders

(Unaudited)

Dear Shareholder,

When we look back on 2020, we will undoubtedly remember it as an extraordinary year. A year ago, no one could have imagined the unusual events that would challenge us personally, professionally, and collectively as a nation. But in retrospect, the trajectory of financial markets over the past year was nothing short of extraordinary.

The year began with rudimentary worries, such as economic growth rates, trade deals, and interest rates. But a novel coronavirus and the subsequent worldwide spread of COVID-19 became an unprecedented event. To combat the pandemic, governments everywhere issued austere shelter-in-place orders, and the global economy slowed markedly. Equity markets sold off sharply in March and April, and second quarter U.S. GDP contracted by an alarming annual rate of 31.4%.

It's no surprise that so many investors flocked to the perceived safety of U.S. Treasuries. Meanwhile, liquidity evaporated (for a short spell) in many other segments of the fixed income market, including higher-yielding credits and municipal bonds. The outlook was tenuous, and credit spreads widened while prices declined for most securities perceived to be higher risk.

A response, however, came swiftly. The U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") and other monetary authorities worldwide leapt into action — cutting interest rates, (re)starting quantitative easing and, in the case of the Fed, launching an array of programs to provide liquidity to stabilize fixed-income markets. The U.S. government also stepped up to provide fiscal stimulus in the form of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act).

It was impressive how quickly those actions helped end the stock market's freefall and restore order across much of the fixed-income universe. The rebound was almost as robust as the drawdown, and third-quarter GDP (the most recent finalized data available) grew at a 33.4% annualized rate.

Late in the year, markets were alternately fueled and roiled by a contentious election season, growing optimism for an effective vaccine, and a fluid debate regarding the need for additional fiscal stimulus. Ultimately, stocks were propelled higher in the fourth quarter when it became clear the United States Congress would provide another dose of fiscal stimulus in the form of direct payments, more unemployment insurance, and additional aid to businesses.

Through all the unprecedented events and extreme volatility, the S&P 500® Index registered an impressive annual return of 18.40% for the 12-month period ended December 31, 2020. Meanwhile, the yield on 10-year U.S. Treasuries declined 95 basis points over the same period, reflecting both the Fed's interest rate cuts and its pledge to keep rates low longer. The yield on 10-Year U.S. Treasuries was 0.93% as of December 31, 2020.

While markets endured and performed admirably during 2020, perhaps the key takeaway is that the unexpected can and will happen. That's why it's important to remain focused on your long-term investment goals and avoid making emotional decisions. Moreover, we continue to have confidence in all of Victory Capital's autonomous Investment Franchises and their ability to navigate the ups and downs.

Managers' Commentary

(Unaudited)

What were the market conditions during the reporting period?

U.S. equity markets delivered solid performance across styles in 2020, and the S&P 500® Index delivered its 11th year of positive returns in the last 12 years. U.S. stocks continued to perform well following a strong 2019 — and this despite the unprecedented pandemic. The economy and stocks proved resilient following what was effectively a virtual global economic shutdown in the first quarter. But thanks to the U.S. Federal Reserve (the “Fed”) (and central banks worldwide) and the U.S. Congress, the record fiscal stimulus and highly accommodative monetary policies backstopped the markets and renewed risk-taking among investors.

After a solid start to the 2020 calendar year in January, U.S. equity markets moved abruptly lower as worst-case fears of SARS-CoV-2 (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2) — the virus responsible for COVID-19 (coronavirus disease 2019) — became a reality. While investors started to show concern of the potential impact of the virus in February 2020, with the broad Russell 3000® Index declining 8.19%, investors fled risk assets in March 2020 en masse as the virus hit home in the United States and the broad index declined another 13.75%. This panic pushed investors to shift away from risk assets and caused credit markets to seize up, while volatility, as measured by the CBOE Market Volatility Index, hit an all-time record high.

The Fed subsequently adjusted forecasts for second-quarter economic output to contract by levels not seen since the Great Depression. Given the unprecedented shock to the economy, the U.S. government implemented record levels of fiscal stimulus to keep businesses open, people in their homes, and important services funded. Meanwhile, the Fed implemented the largest-scale monetary stimulus on record, which provided ample liquidity to credit markets, businesses, and important infrastructure. The Fed has also lowered interest rates by 150 basis points to 0%, with the goal of helping the economy bounce back quickly.

U.S. equity markets roared back during the second quarter as fiscal and monetary measures convinced investors who had fled risk assets to re-enter. It also became clear that the economic and business impact of the coronavirus would not affect all companies similarly, and that there would be “haves” and “have-nots” in the aftermath.

Strong sentiment turned into exuberance as we approached year-end, and record-setting market performance in the fourth quarter was driven by news that effective COVID-19 vaccines were developed faster than expected. In addition, a more stable outlook associated with a victory by Joe Biden in the U.S. presidential election helped push record inflows into equities. This also created a sharp reversal among equity market leadership late in the year, and many lagging companies in sectors traditionally associated with value investing came roaring back. U.S. government action and corporate innovation appears to have bridged the pre-pandemic economy to what will be a new “normal” economic environment, with initial signs that the economy could fully rebound in 2021, despite the prospect of a severe wave of COVID-19 in winter.

How did Victory RS Partners Fund (the "Fund") perform during the reporting period?

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation. The Fund returned 0.46% (Class A Shares at net asset value) for the year ended December 31, 2020, underperforming the Russell 2000® Value Index (the "Index"), which returned 4.63% during the reporting period.

What strategies did you employ during the reporting period?

The year was characterized by two extremes, a decline in the stock markets through the first quarter as investors concentrated on the negative impact and spread of the pandemic. After bottoming toward the end of March 2020, the Index started to rebound as investors digested the positive influence of fiscal and monetary stimulus. The Fund underperformed the Index primarily by not owning names in specific sectors that rebounded strongly despite having what we would consider to be riskier business models or weaker balance sheets. Overall, we continue to concentrate on businesses that have the potential for long-term value creation while limiting our downside. This may have limited our performance as the Index increased off of its low levels after March of 2020, but we remain confident in providing outperformance over a longer time period. For the Fund, we had positive stock selection in Industrials and Communication Services sectors, which was offset by negative stock selection in the Information Technology, Materials and Consumer Discretionary sectors. For the year, the stocks that provided positive contribution tended to be cyclical and with exposure to an improving economy where we added after the market bottomed in March. Within Industrials, a cyclical sector, Timken, TFI International and Regal Beloit, Inc. were significant positive contributors to performance. The Financials sector provided other names that benefitted the portfolio. PJT Partners benefitted from both restructuring activity caused by the economic slowdown and increased mergers and acquisitions activity as the economy improved, while Stewart Information Services benefited from the increase in housing activity after March. Positions that were impacted by the pandemic detracted from the Fund's performance. Within Industrials, Skywest, a regional airline, experienced large declines in passenger travel while one of our Information Technology sector positions, Euronet, saw its ATM operations negatively affected by dramatically lower tourism in its geographies. Lower-quality companies with riskier balance sheets outperformed the market dramatically since March and caused underperformance in the Consumer Discretionary and Materials sectors. The Fund underperformed the Index in 2020. However, we remain confident in our process and feel it will provide us with the discipline that leads to longer-term outperformance, which will benefit our investors over time.

The range of outcomes for 2021, while more optimistic, rests on the rollout and efficacy of recently approved vaccines to fight COVID-19. Volatility, economic activity, and the level of interest rates will be impacted by the level of success of the vaccines. In addition, the U.S. presidential election has resulted in a shift in power, which provides some uncertainty as to how policy decisions may impact the economy and markets.

Interest rates and mortgage rates continue near historically low levels, inflation is nonexistent, and the economy struggles while we await broad distribution of the vaccines. We remain very watchful of inflation, particularly as a result of the size and speed of the monetary and fiscal response to the pandemic. We continue to carefully monitor the corporate debt market, but in general, U.S. corporate balance sheets are in better shape with access to low-cost debt. The Fed has stepped in to provide liquidity to support risk assets, but there does remain some concern regarding insolvency for some businesses if the absolute level of economic activity remains weak.

Equity valuations are in the top decile compared to historical levels, in part due to depressed earnings from COVID-19, but also as a result of expansion in the six largest mega-cap stocks in the S&P 500® Index. Excluding the six largest mega-cap stocks, valuations are more reasonable, particularly if compared to the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield. Recovery in aggregate earnings will be tempered, as certain industries such as hospitality, entertainment, banking, and travel will take longer to return to pre-COVID levels. However, equities continue to look attractive when compared to U.S. Treasuries and high-grade corporate bonds after the flight to safety rally during the crisis. We feel the values inherent in the portfolio should attract other investors and acquirers over time.

How did Victory RS Value Fund (the "Fund") perform during the reporting period?

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation. The Fund returned -2.59% (Class A Shares at net asset value) for the year ended December 31, 2020, underperforming the Russell Midcap® Value Index (the "Index"), which returned 4.96% during the reporting period.

What strategies did you employ during the reporting period?

This was the first year of underperformance for the Fund since 2016. Relative returns were primarily driven by stock selection in several sectors that lagged the Index performance for the year. In the Financials sector, the decline in economic activity caused by the pandemic resulted in a significant decline in interest rates and increased concerns regarding credit losses. In many cases, we saw valuations fall to levels not seen since the global financial crisis, as sentiment shifted away from the sector. As we were overweight the sector, our relative performance was negatively affected; though as we look forward, we feel quite optimistic about future returns from our positions as the economy reopens in a post-COVID-19 world. In the Materials sector, our performance lagged due to an underweighting in the gold & copper mining area, which performed exceptionally well within the Index due to a market shift in sentiment for these commodity-linked businesses as people gravitated to these commodities for their perceived store of value in a negative "real" interest rate world. Within the Health Care sector, our investments performed well; however, our lack of exposure to the more speculative biotech area caused relative performance to suffer. Somewhat offsetting these negative areas of the portfolio was our performance in Real Estate, which relatively outperformed versus the Index, as our focus on quality balance sheets served us well in a very difficult year for the sector. The Fund underperformed the Index in 2020 though we feel confident in the businesses that we own and are optimistic in our future performance, both absolute and relative, as interest rates normalize from generational lows over the intermediate-term and deflate many of the speculative areas of the market. We believe our consistent focus on investing in quality businesses with good balance sheets and durable cash flows run by good managers will continue to serve us well.

The range of outcomes for 2021, while more optimistic, rests on the rollout and efficacy of recently approved vaccines to fight COVID-19. Volatility, economic activity, and the level of interest rates will be impacted by the level of success of the vaccines. In addition, the U.S. presidential election has resulted in a shift in power, which provides some uncertainty as to how policy decisions may impact the economy and markets.

The Fed has stepped in to provide liquidity to support risk assets, but there does remain some concern regarding insolvency for some businesses if the absolute level of economic activity remains weak.

How did Victory RS Large Cap Alpha Fund (the "Fund") perform during the reporting period?

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation. The Fund returned -1.03% (Class A Shares at net asset value) for the year ended December 31, 2020, underperforming the Russell 1000® Value Index (the "Index"), which returned 2.80% during the reporting period.

What strategies did you employ during the reporting period?

The Fund underperformed the Index despite strong stock selection in Communication Services and Information Technology. Negative contributors to stock selection were in the Financials and Utilities sectors, as company-specific bets were not rewarded in 2020. However, several of our investments in the Technology and Communication Services sectors paid off in 2020. Euronet Worldwide and Broadridge, Inc. were significant positive contributors to performance. On the communication services side, Facebook, the social media company, as well as Alphabet, the internet search and online media company, performed extremely well. Where we struggled was in a couple of our Financials sector positions; two of our positions, Cincinnati Financial and CBOE Global Markets were negative contributors because of company-specific events. In the end, the Fund missed its objective of outperforming the Index in 2020.

The range of outcomes for 2021, while more optimistic, rests on the rollout and efficacy of recently approved vaccines to fight COVID-19. Volatility, economic activity, and the level of interest rates will be impacted by the level of success of the vaccines. In addition, the U.S. presidential election has resulted in a shift in power, which provides some uncertainty as to how policy decisions may impact the economy and markets.

Interest rates and mortgage rates continue near historically low levels, inflation is nonexistent, and the economy struggles while we await broad distribution of the vaccines. We remain very watchful of inflation, particularly as a result of the size and speed of the monetary and fiscal response to the pandemic. We continue to carefully monitor the corporate debt market, but in general, U.S. corporate balance sheets are in better shape with access to low-cost debt. The Fed has stepped in to provide liquidity to support risk assets, but there does remain some concern regarding insolvency for some businesses if the absolute level of economic activity remains weak.

Equity valuations are in the top decile compared to historical levels, in part due to depressed earnings from COVID-19, but also as a result of multiple expansion in the six largest mega-cap stocks in the S&P 500® Index. Excluding the six largest mega-cap stocks, valuations are more reasonable, particularly if compared to the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield. Recovery in aggregate earnings will be tempered, as certain industries such as hospitality, entertainment, banking, and travel will take longer to return to pre-COVID levels. However, equities continue to look attractive when compared to U.S. Treasuries and high-grade corporate bonds after the flight to safety rally during the crisis. We feel the values inherent in the portfolio should attract other investors and acquirers over time.

What were the market conditions during the reporting period?

U.S. equity markets delivered solid performance across styles in 2020, and the S&P 500® Index — the most popular proxy for the overall domestic stock market — delivered its 11th year of positive returns in the last 12 years. U.S. stocks continued to perform well following a strong 2019 — and this despite the unprecedented pandemic. The economy and stocks proved resilient following what was effectively a virtual global economic shutdown in the first quarter. But thanks to the U.S. Federal Reserve (the “Fed”) (and central bankers worldwide) and the U.S. Congress, the record fiscal stimulus and highly accommodative monetary policies backstopped the markets and renewed risk-taking among investors.

After a solid start to the 2020 calendar year in January, U.S. equity markets moved abruptly lower as worst-case fears of SARS-CoV-2 (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2) — the virus responsible for COVID-19 (coronavirus disease 2019) — became a reality. While investors started to show concern of the potential impact of the virus in February 2020, with the broad Russell 3000® Index declining 8.19%, investors fled risk assets in March 2020 en masse as the virus hit home in the United States and the broad index declined another 13.75%. This panic pushed investors to shift away from risk assets and caused credit markets to seize up, while volatility, as measured by the CBOE Market Volatility Index, hit an all-time record high.

The Fed subsequently adjusted forecasts for second-quarter economic output to contract by levels not seen since the Great Depression. Given the unprecedented shock to the economy, the U.S. government implemented record levels of fiscal stimulus to keep businesses open, people in their homes, and important services funded. Meanwhile, the Fed implemented the largest-scale monetary stimulus on record, which provided ample liquidity to credit markets, businesses, and important infrastructure. The Fed has also lowered interest rates by 150 basis points to 0%, with the goal of helping the economy bounce back quickly.

U.S. equity markets roared back during the second quarter as fiscal and monetary measures convinced investors who had fled risk assets to re-enter. It also became clear that the economic and business impact of the coronavirus would not affect all companies similarly, and that there would be “haves” and “have-nots” in the aftermath.

Strong sentiment turned into exuberance as we approached year-end, and record-setting market performance in the fourth quarter was driven by news that effective COVID-19 vaccines were developed faster than expected. In addition, a more stable outlook associated with a victory by Joe Biden in the U.S. presidential election helped push record inflows into equities. This also created a sharp reversal among equity market leadership late in the year, and many lagging companies in sectors traditionally associated with value investing came roaring back. U.S. government action and corporate innovation appears to have bridged the pre-pandemic economy to what will be a new “normal” economic environment, with initial signs that the economy could fully rebound in 2021, despite the prospect of a severe wave of COVID-19 in winter.

Victory RS Investors Fund (continued)Managers' Commentary (continued)How did Victory RS Investors Fund (the "Fund") perform during the reporting period?

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation. The Fund returned -1.68% (Class A Shares at net asset value) for the year ended December 31, 2020, underperforming the Russell 3000® Value Index (the "Index"), which returned 2.87% during the reporting period.

What strategies did you employ during the reporting period?

Relative returns were primarily driven by stock selection in several sectors which lagged the Index performance for the year. In Financials, the decline in economic activity caused by the pandemic resulted in a significant decline in interest rates and increased concerns regarding credit losses. In many cases, we saw valuations fall to levels not seen since the global financial crisis, as sentiment shifted away from the sector. As we were overweight the sector, our relative performance was negatively affected; though as we look forward, we feel quite optimistic about future returns from our positions as the economy reopens in a post-COVID-19 world. Within the Health Care sector, our investments performed well; however, our underweight exposure to the Pharmaceuticals sector, in particular the more speculative biotech area, caused relative performance to lag. Somewhat offsetting these negative areas of the portfolio was our performance in the Communication Services sector, which relatively outperformed versus the Index due to long-term positions in Google and Facebook. In the end, the Fund did not achieve its objective of outperforming the Index in 2020 though we feel confident in the businesses that we own and are optimistic in our future performance, both absolute and relative, as interest rates normalize from generational lows over the intermediate-term and deflate many of the speculative areas of the market. We believe our consistent focus on investing in quality businesses with good balance sheets and durable cash flows run by good managers will continue to serve us well.

The range of outcomes for 2021, while more optimistic, rests on the rollout and efficacy of recently approved vaccines to fight COVID-19. Volatility, economic activity, and the level of interest rates will be impacted by the level of success of the vaccines. In addition, the U.S. presidential election has resulted in a shift in power, which provides some uncertainty as to how policy decisions may impact the economy and markets.

Victory Global Natural Resources Fund

Managers' Commentary

(Unaudited)

What were the market conditions during the reporting period?

Most major commodities prices increased over the course of 2020, with gold and copper being among the best performers, each up around 25%. Natural gas prices increased 16% and the average futures contract out five years rose 5%. Crude oil prices fell -20% as COVID-19 (coronavirus disease 2019) heavily impacted demand. Despite the increases in commodity prices and generally weak demand, inventories continued to correct as supply remains constrained due to a lack of capital availability combined with new-found discipline among producers. Outside of the corporate bond market, there is little access to capital for most upstream commodity producers. As Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) became a focal point in 2020, private equity sponsors are rapidly shifting energy allocations into renewables and alternative energy. Public-equity investors have eschewed traditional energy, which represents approximately 2% of the S&P 500® Index and has been an underperforming industry segment for most of the past decade. The combination of normalizing demand, low inventories and constrained supply base is setting the stage for the next cyclical upturn in commodity prices. This phase transition became more obvious as the year progressed.

How did Victory Global Natural Resources Fund (the "Fund") perform during the reporting period?

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation. The Fund returned 27.35% (Class A Shares at net asset value) for the year ended December 31, 2020, outperforming the MSCI World Commodity Producers Index (the "Index"), which returned -15.10% during the reporting period.

What strategies did you employ during the reporting period?

Positive performance occurred only after a severe drawdown in the first quarter as markets reacted to the COVID-19 pandemic. Above-Index weighting and security selection in the North American natural gas segment were primary drivers of relative outperformance, followed by a similar outcome in base metals. The relative overweight to North American oil companies detracted from relative returns, although our North American oil companies still outperformed those of the Index. Not owning integrated oil companies was a positive contribution to returns. The outperformance of the Fund versus the Index was due both to wise subsector allocations as well as good stock-picking.

1. Organization:

Victory Portfolios (the “Trust”) was organized on December 6, 1995 as a Delaware statutory trust as a successor to a company named “The Victory Portfolios,” which was organized as a Massachusetts business trust on February 5, 1986. The Trust is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “1940 Act”), as an open-end investment company. The Trust is comprised of 42 funds and is authorized to issue an unlimited number of shares, which are units of beneficial interest with a par value of $0.001 per share. Each Fund, with the exception of RS Investors Fund and Global Natural Resources Fund, is classified as diversified under the 1940 Act.

The accompanying financial statements are those of the following five Funds (collectively, the “Funds” and individually, a “Fund”).

Funds (Legal Name)	Funds (Short Name)	Investment Share Classes Offered
Victory RS Partners Fund	RS Partners Fund	Classes A, R, Y and Member Class*
Victory RS Value Fund	RS Value Fund	Classes A, C, R and Y
Victory RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	Classes A, C, R and Y
Victory RS Investors Fund	RS Investors Fund	Classes A, C, R and Y
Victory Global Natural Resources Fund	Global Natural Resources Fund	Classes A, C, R and Y

* Member Class commenced operations on November 3, 2020.

Each class of shares of a Fund has substantially identical rights and privileges except with respect to sales charges, fees paid under distribution plans, expenses allocable exclusively to each class of shares, voting rights on matters solely affecting a single class of shares, and the exchange privilege of each class of shares.

Under the Trust’s organizational documents, its officers and trustees are indemnified against certain liabilities arising out of the performance of their duties to the Funds. In addition, in the normal course of business, the Funds enter into contracts with their vendors and others that provide for general indemnifications. The Funds’ maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Funds. However, based on experience, the Funds expect that risk of loss to be remote.

2. Significant Accounting Policies:

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Trust in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in the United States of America (“GAAP”). The preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses for the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The Funds follow the specialized accounting and reporting requirements under GAAP that are applicable to investment companies.

Investment Valuation:

The Funds record investments at fair value. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

The valuation techniques described below maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs in determining fair value. The inputs used for valuing the Funds’ investments are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

- Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical securities
- Level 2 — other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities or interest rates applicable to those securities, etc.)

- Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs (including the Funds' own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

Changes in valuation techniques may result in transfers in or out of an assigned level within the disclosure hierarchy. The inputs or methodologies used for valuation techniques are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with entering into those investments.

Portfolio securities listed or traded on securities exchanges, including Exchange-Traded Funds ("ETFs"), American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs") and Rights, are valued at the closing price on the exchange or system where the security is principally traded, if available, or at the Nasdaq Official Closing Price. If there have been no sales for that day on the exchange or system, then a security is valued at the last available bid quotation on the exchange or system where the security is principally traded. In each of these situations, valuations are typically categorized as Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy.

Investments in open-end investment companies are valued at net asset value. These valuations are typically categorized as Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy.

Investments for which there are no such quotations, or for which quotations do not appear reliable, are valued at fair value in accordance with procedures established by and under the general supervision and responsibility of the Trust's Board of Trustees (the "Board"). These valuations are typically categorized as Level 2 or Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy, based on the observability of inputs used to determine the fair value.

A summary of the valuations as of December 31, 2020, based upon the three levels defined above, is included in the table below while the breakdown, by category, of investments is disclosed on the Schedules of Portfolio Investments.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, there were no transfers in or out of the Level 3 fair value hierarchy.

Real Estate Investment Trusts (“REITs”):

The Funds may invest in REITs, which report information on the source of their distributions annually. REITs are pooled investment vehicles that invest primarily in income-producing real estate or real estate-related loans or interests (such as mortgages). Certain distributions received from REITs during the year are recorded as realized gains or return of capital as estimated by the Funds or when such information becomes known.

Investment Companies:Open-End Funds:

The Funds may invest in portfolios of open-end investment companies. These investment companies value securities in their portfolios for which market quotations are readily available at their market values (generally the last reported sale price) and all other securities and assets at their fair value by the methods established by the board of directors of the underlying funds.

Investment Transactions and Related Income:

Changes in holdings of investments are accounted for no later than one business day following the trade date. For financial reporting purposes, however, investment transactions are accounted for on trade date on the last business day of the reporting period. Interest income is determined on the basis of coupon interest accrued using the effective interest method which adjusts, where applicable, the amortization of premiums or accretion of discounts. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Gains or losses realized on sales of securities are recorded on the identified cost basis.

Withholding taxes on interest, dividends and gains as a result of certain investments in ADRs by the Funds have been provided for in accordance with each investment's applicable country's tax rules and rates.

Securities Lending:

The Trust has entered into a Master Securities Lending Agreement (“MSLA”) with Citibank, N.A. (“Citibank” or the “Agent”). Under the terms of the MSLA, the Funds may lend securities to certain broker-dealers and banks in exchange for collateral in the amount of at least 102% of the value of U.S. securities loaned or at least 105% of the value of non-U.S. securities loaned, marked-to-market daily. Any collateral shortfalls associated with increases in the valuation of the securities loaned are adjusted the next business day. The collateral can be received in the form of cash collateral and/or non-cash collateral. Non-cash collateral can include U.S. Government Securities, letters of credit and certificates of deposit. The cash collateral is invested in short-term instruments or cash equivalents, primarily open-end investment companies, as noted on the Funds' Schedules of Portfolio Investments. The Trust does not have effective control of the non-cash collateral and therefore it is not disclosed on the Funds' Schedules of Portfolio Investments. During the time portfolio securities are on loan, the borrower will pay the Funds any dividends or interest paid on such securities plus any fee negotiated between the parties to the lending agreement. The Funds also earn a return from the collateral. The Funds pay the Agent various fees in connection with the investment of cash collateral and fees based on the investment income received from securities lending activities. Securities lending income (net of these fees) is disclosed on the Statements of Operations. Although risk is mitigated by the collateral, the Funds could experience a delay in recovering their securities and possible loss of income or value if the borrower fails to return them.

Securities lending transactions are entered into by a Fund under the MSLA, which permits the Fund, under certain circumstances such as an event of default, to offset amounts payable by the Fund to the same counterparty against amounts receivable from the counterparty to create a net payment due to or from the Fund.

The following table is a summary of the Funds' securities lending transactions which are subject to offset under the MSLA as of December 31, 2020. These transactions are accounted for as secured borrowings with an overnight and continuous contractual maturity for cash collateral and greater than overnight and continuous contractual maturity for non-cash collateral.

* Collateral received in excess of the market value of securities on loan is not presented in this table. The total cash collateral received by each Fund is disclosed in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

Foreign Currency Translations:

The accounting records of the Funds are maintained in U.S. dollars. Investment securities and other assets and liabilities of a Fund denominated in a foreign currency are translated into U.S. dollars at current exchange rates. Purchases and sales of securities, income receipts and expense payments are translated into U.S. dollars at the exchange rates on the date of the transactions. The Funds do not isolate the portion of the results of operations resulting from changes in foreign exchange rates on investments from fluctuations arising from changes in market prices of securities held. Such fluctuations are disclosed as Net change in unrealized appreciation/depreciation on investment securities and foreign currency translations on the Statements of Operations. Any realized gains or losses from these fluctuations are disclosed as Net realized gains (losses) from investment securities and foreign currency translations on the Statements of Operations.

Federal Income Taxes:

It is the policy of each Fund to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company by complying with the provisions available to certain investment companies, as defined in applicable sections of the Internal Revenue Code, and to make distributions of net investment income and net realized gains sufficient to relieve it from all, or substantially all, federal income taxes. Accordingly, no provision for federal income taxes is required in the financial statements. The Funds have a tax year end of December 31.

Management of the Funds has reviewed tax positions taken in tax years that remain subject to examination by all major tax jurisdictions, including federal (i.e., the last four tax years, which includes the current fiscal tax year end). Management believes that there is no tax liability resulting from unrecognized tax benefits related to uncertain tax positions taken.

Allocations:

Expenses directly attributable to a Fund are charged to the Fund, while expenses which are attributable to more than one fund in the Trust, or jointly with an affiliated trust, are allocated among the respective funds in the Trust and/or affiliated trust based upon net assets or another appropriate basis.

Income, expenses (other than class-specific expenses such as transfer agent fees, state registration fees, printing fees and 12b-1 fees), and realized and unrealized gains or losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets on the date income is earned or expenses and realized and unrealized gains and losses are incurred.

3. Purchases and Sales of Securities:

FIS Investor Services, LLC ("FIS") serves as the Funds' transfer agent. Under the Transfer Agent Agreement, the Trust pays FIS a fee for its services and reimburses FIS for all of their reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in providing these services. Amounts incurred for the year ended December 31, 2020, are reflected on the Statements of Operations as Transfer agent fees.

Victory Capital Transfer Agency, Inc., an affiliate of the Adviser, serves as sub-transfer agent for the Member Class shares of the Funds and receives no fee or other compensation for these services.

The Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO") is an employee of the Adviser, which pays the compensation of the CCO and his support staff. The Trust has entered into an Agreement to provide compliance services with the Adviser, pursuant to which the Adviser furnishes its compliance personnel, including the services of the CCO, and other resources reasonably necessary to provide the Trust with compliance oversight services related to the design, administration and oversight of a compliance program for the Trust in accordance with Rule 38a-1 under the 1940 Act. The Funds in the Victory Funds Complex, in aggregate, compensate the Adviser for these services. Amounts incurred for the year ended December 31, 2020, are reflected on the Statements of Operations as Compliance fees.

Sidley Austin LLP provides legal services to the Trust.

Victory Capital Services, Inc. (the "Distributor"), an affiliate of the Adviser, serves as distributor for the continuous offering of the shares of the Funds pursuant to a Distribution Agreement between the Distributor and the Trust, and receives no fee or other compensation for these services. Effective June 30, 2020, the Distributor's name was changed from Victory Capital Advisers, Inc. Amounts incurred for the year ended December 31, 2020, are reflected on the Statements of Operations as 12b-1 fees.

Pursuant to the Distribution and Service Plans adopted in accordance with Rule 12b-1 under the 1940 Act, the Distributor may receive a monthly distribution and service fee, at an annual rate of up to 0.25% of the average daily net assets of Class A Shares, at an annual rate of up to 0.50% of the average daily net assets of Class R Shares and 1.00% of the average daily net assets of Class C Shares of the Funds. The distribution and service fees paid to the Distributor may be used by the Distributor to pay for activities primarily intended to result in the sale of Class A, Class R or Class C Shares of the Funds.

In addition, the Distributor is entitled to receive commissions on sales of the Class A Shares of the Funds. For the year ended December 31, 2020, the Distributor received approximately $ 19,237 from commissions earned on sales of Class A Shares of the Funds.

The Adviser has entered into expense limitation agreements with certain Funds. Under the terms of the agreements, the Adviser has agreed to waive fees or reimburse certain expenses to the extent that ordinary operating expenses incurred by certain classes of a Fund in any fiscal year exceed the expense limit for such classes of the Fund. Such excess amounts will be the liability of the Adviser. Interest, taxes, brokerage commissions, other expenditures which are capitalized in accordance with GAAP, and other extraordinary expenses not incurred in the ordinary course of a Fund's business are excluded from the expense limits. As of December 31, 2020, the expense limits (excluding voluntary waivers) are as follows:

	In effect until April 30, 2021
	Class A Shares	Class C Shares	Class R Shares	Class Y Shares	Member Class
RS Partners Fund	1.45%	N/A	1.81%	1.12%	1.25%(a)
RS Value Fund	1.30%	2.07%	1.69%	1.06%	N/A

(a) In effect from November 3, 2020, until at least April 30, 2022.

The Funds have agreed to repay fees and expenses that were waived or reimbursed by the Adviser for a period up to three fiscal years after such waiver or reimbursement was made to the extent such payments or repayments would not cause the expenses of a class to exceed the original expense limitation in place at the time of the waiver or reimbursement or any expense limitation agreement in place at the time of repayment. Amounts repaid to the Adviser during the year, if any, are reflected on the Statements of Operations as Recoupment of prior expenses waived/reimbursed by Adviser.

As of December 31, 2020, the following amounts are available to be repaid to the Adviser. The Funds have not recorded any amounts available to be repaid as a liability due to an assessment that such repayment is not probable at December 31, 2020.

	Expires December 31, 2021	Expires December 31, 2022	Expires December 31, 2023	Total
RS Partners Fund	$386,406	$344,191	$316,786	$1,047,383

Voluntary waivers and reimbursements applicable to the Funds are not available to be recouped at a future time. There were no voluntary waivers or reimbursements for the year ended December 31, 2020.

Certain officers and/or interested trustees of the Funds are also officers and/or employees of the Adviser, Administrator, Fund Accountant, Sub-Administrator, Sub-Fund Accountant, Custodian, Distributor, and Legal Counsel.

5. Risks:

Each Fund may be subject to other risks in addition to these identified risks.

Equity Risk — An investment in the Funds' shares represents an indirect investment in the securities owned by the Funds, some of which will be traded on a national securities exchange or in the over-the-counter markets. The value of the securities in which the Funds invest, like other market investments, may move up or down, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably. The value of the securities in which the Funds invest may affect the value of the Funds' shares. An investment in the Funds' shares at any point in time may be worth less than the original investment, even after taking into account the reinvestment of the Funds' distributions.

Sector Risk — To the extent the Funds focus in one or more sectors, market or economic factors impacting those sectors could have a significant effect on the value of the Funds' investments and could make the Funds' performance more volatile. For example, the values of companies in the Information Technology sector are particularly vulnerable to economic downturns, short product cycles and aggressive pricing, market competition and changes in government regulation.

Concentration Risk — The Global Natural Resources Fund (herein, the "Fund") may concentrate its investments in a particular industry, as the term "concentration" is used in the 1940 Act. Concentrating investments in the Natural Resources sector increases the risk of loss because the stocks of many or all of the companies in the sector may decline in value due to developments adversely affecting the sector. In addition, investors may buy or sell substantial amounts of the Fund's shares in response to factors affecting or expected to affect the natural resources sector, resulting in extreme inflows and outflows of cash into and out of the Fund. Such inflows or outflows might affect management of the Fund adversely to the extent they cause the Fund's cash position or cash requirements to exceed normal levels.

Geopolitical/Natural Disaster Risk — An outbreak of disease called COVID-19 has spread internationally. The transmission of COVID-19 and efforts to contain its spread have resulted in international, national and local border closings and other significant travel restrictions and disruptions, significant disruptions to business operations, supply chains and consumer activity, significant challenges in healthcare service preparation and delivery, quarantines and general concern and uncertainty. These negative impacts have caused significant volatility and declines in global financial markets, which have caused losses for Fund investors during and subsequent to period end. The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic may last for an extended period of time, and could result in a substantial economic downturn or recession. Public health crises may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social, economic, market and financial risks. The extent of the impact to the financial performance of the Funds' investments will depend on future developments, including (i) the duration and spread of the outbreak, (ii) the restrictions and advisories, (iii) the effects on the financial markets, and (iv) the effects on the economy overall, all of which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted.

6. Borrowing and Interfund Lending:

Line of Credit:

For the year ended December 31, 2020, the Victory Funds Complex and the USAA Mutual Funds Complex (another series of mutual funds managed by the Adviser) participated in a short-term demand note "Line of Credit" agreement with Citibank. The Line of Credit agreement with Citibank was renewed on June 29, 2020, with a termination date of June 28, 2021. Under the agreement with Citibank, the Victory Funds Complex and USAA Mutual Funds Complex, combined, may borrow up to $600 million, of which $300 million is committed and $300 million is uncommitted. $40 million of the Line of Credit is reserved for use by the Victory Floating Rate Fund (herein, the "Fund"), another series of the Victory Funds Complex, with that Fund paying the related commitment fees for that amount. The purpose of the agreement is to meet temporary or emergency cash needs. For the year ended December 31, 2020, Citibank received an annual commitment fee of 0.15% on $300 million for providing the Line of Credit. Each fund in the Victory Funds Complex pays a pro-rata portion of the commitment fees plus any interest (one month LIBOR plus one percent) on amounts borrowed. Effective June 29, 2020, under an amended Line of Credit agreement, Citibank will also receive an annual upfront fee of 0.10% on the $300 million committed line of credit. Each fund in the Victory Funds Complex will pay a pro-rata portion of the upfront fee. Interest charged to each Fund during the period, if applicable, is presented on the Statements of Operations under Line of credit fees.

The Funds did not utilize the Line of Credit during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Interfund Lending:

The Trust and Adviser rely on an exemptive order granted by the SEC in March 2017 (the "Order"), permitting the establishment and operation of an Interfund Lending Facility (the "Facility"). The Facility allows each Fund to directly lend and borrow money to or from any other Victory Fund, that is permitted to participate in the Facility, relying upon the Order at rates beneficial to both the borrowing and lending funds. Advances under the Facility are allowed for temporary or emergency purposes, including the meeting of redemption requests that otherwise might require the untimely disposition of securities, and are subject to each fund's borrowing restrictions. The interfund loan rate is determined, as specified in the Order, by averaging the current repurchase agreement rate and the current bank loan rate. As a Borrower, interest charged to each Fund during the period, if applicable, is presented on the Statements of Operations under Interfund lending fees. As a Lender, interest earned by each Fund during the period, if applicable, is presented on the Statements of Operations under Interfund lending income.

The average borrowing and lending for the days outstanding and average interest rate for each Fund during the year ended December 31, 2020, were as follows:

		Amount Outstanding at December 31, 2020	Average Borrowing*	Days Borrowing Outstanding	Average Interest Rate*	Maximum Borrowing During the Period
	Borrower or Lender
RS Investors Fund	Borrower	$—	$1,916,000	2	1.76%	$1,948,000

* For the year ended December 31, 2020, based on the number of days borrowings were outstanding.

7. Federal Income Tax Information:

Dividends from net investment income, if any, are declared and paid annually for the Funds. Distributable net realized gains, if any, are declared and distributed at least annually from each Fund.

The amounts of dividends from net investment income and distributions from net realized gains (collectively, distributions to shareholders) are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. To the extent these “book/tax” differences are permanent in nature (e.g., net operating loss and distribution reclassification), such amounts are reclassified within the components of net assets based on their federal tax-basis treatment; temporary differences (e.g., wash sales) do not require reclassification. To the extent dividends and distributions exceed net investment income and net realized gains for tax purposes, they are reported as distributions of capital. Net investment losses incurred by a Fund may be reclassified as an offset to capital on the accompanying Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

As of December 31, 2020, on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities, as a result of permanent book-to-tax differences, reclassification adjustments were as follows:

	Total Accumulated Earnings/(Loss)	Capital
RS Partners Fund	$180,360	$(180,360)
RS Value Fund	(9,599)	9,599
RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	2,667	(2,667)
RS Investors Fund	32,579	(32,579)

The tax character of distributions paid during the tax years ended, as noted below, were as follows (total distributions paid may differ from the Statements of Changes in Net Assets because, for tax purposes, dividends are recognized when actually paid):

Year Ended December 31, 2020
Distributions Paid From:
	Ordinary Income	Net Long-Term Capital Gains	Total Distributions Paid
RS Partners Fund	$ 11	$ 4,980,318	$ 4,980,329
RS Value Fund	5	5,814,174	5,814,179
RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	1,415,308	16,338,738	17,754,046
RS Investors Fund	—	86,177	86,177
RS Global Natural Resources Fund	325,268	—	325,268

Year Ended December 31, 2019
Distributions paid from
	Ordinary Income	Net Long-Term Capital Gains	Total Distributions Paid
RS Partners Fund	$2,917,501	$38,853,618	$41,771,119
RS Value Fund	3,088,482	24,249,837	27,338,319
RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	3,767,453	17,315,428	21,082,881
RS Investors Fund	—	1,871,145	1,871,145
Global Natural Resources Fund	294,977	—	294,977

As of December 31, 2020, the components of accumulated earnings/(loss) on a tax basis were as follows:

	Undistributed Ordinary Income	Accumulated Earnings	Accumulated Capital and Other Losses	Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)*	Total Accumulated Earnings (Loss)
RS Partners Fund	$1,236,517	$1,236,517	$ (9,328,334)	$ 73,496,036	$ 65,404,219
RS Value Fund	698,365	698,365	(11,867,080)	53,082,204	41,913,489
RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	5,493,216	5,493,216	(577,913)	95,782,420	100,697,723
RS Investors Fund	—	—	(2,106,442)	5,778,932	3,672,490
RS Global Natural Resources Fund	86,746	86,746	(1,828,289,529)	(95,939,753)	(1,924,142,536)

* The difference between the book-basis and tax-basis unrealized appreciation (depreciation) is attributable primarily to tax deferral of losses on wash sales and partnership basis adjustments.

As of the tax year ended December 31, 2020, the following Funds had net capital loss carryforwards ("CLCFs") as summarized in the table below, which are not subject to expiration.

	Short-Term Amount	Long-Term Amount	Total
RS Partners Fund	$ 9,328,334	$ —	$ 9,328,334
RS Value Fund	11,867,080	—	11,867,080
RS Large Cap Alpha Fund	577,913	—	577,913

RS Global Natural Resources Fund	9,316,769	1,818,972,760	1,828,289,529

As of December 31, 2020, the cost basis for federal income tax purposes, gross unrealized appreciation, gross unrealized depreciation and net unrealized appreciation (depreciation) for investments and derivatives were as follows:

	Cost of Investments for Federal Tax Purposes	Gross Unrealized Appreciation	Gross Unrealized Depreciation	Net Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)

RS Investors Fund	22,776,471	6,410,206	(631,283)	5,778,923
RS Global Natural Resources Fund	246,925,388	38,152,363	(134,092,443)	(95,940,080)

8. Capital Contribution from Prior Custodian:

During 2016, certain Funds received notification from their prior custodian, State Street Bank and Trust ("State Street"), concerning issues related to billing on certain categories of expenses during the approximately 16-year period from 1998 through October 31, 2014. The over-billing primarily related to categories of expenses that involved an allocation of general costs among multiple clients.

State Street paid the refunded amounts during January 2017. Based on billing information received during 2016 from State Street and an analysis of any expense limitation agreements that were in place during the period of the activities in question, including the application of any recoupment provisions in such agreements, the Adviser received a portion of the refund.

The portion of the refund retained by the Funds was accounted for as a capital contribution and is reflected on the Financial Highlights as Capital Contribution from Prior Custodian, Net.

9. Fund Ownership:

Ownership of more than 25% of the voting securities of a fund creates presumptions of control of the fund, under section 2(a)(9) of the 1940 Act. As of December 31, 2020, the shareholders listed below held more than 25% of the shares outstanding of the Funds and may be deemed to control those Funds. Shareholders of record may hold Fund shares for the benefit of their customers.

	Shareholder	Percent
RS Partners Fund	National Financial Services, LLC	30.8%
Global Natural Resources Fund	Charles Schwab & Co., Inc.	36.4%

Expense Examples

As a shareholder of the Funds, you may incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including sales charges (loads) on purchases; and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees, distribution and service (12b-1) fees and other Fund expenses. These examples are intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Funds and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

These examples are based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period from July 1, 2020, through December 31, 2020.

The Actual Expense figures in the table below provide information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information below, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the table under the heading entitled "Actual Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

The Hypothetical Expense figures in the table below provide information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on each Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs. Therefore, the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

Considerations of the Board in Continuing the Investment Advisory Agreements

The Board approved the advisory agreement with the Adviser, on behalf of each of the Funds (the “Advisory Agreement”), and the sub-advisory agreement between SailingStone Capital Partners LLC (the “Sub-Adviser”) and the Adviser, on behalf of the Global Natural Resources Fund (the “Sub-Advisory Agreement” and together with the Advisory Agreement, the “Agreements”), at a meeting, which was called for that purpose, on December 2, 2020. The Board also considered information relating to the Funds and the Agreements provided throughout the year and, more specifically, at a meeting on October 27, 2020 called for the purpose of reviewing the Agreements. In considering whether to approve the Agreement, the Board requested, and the Adviser and Sub-Adviser provided, information that the Board believed to be reasonably necessary to reach its conclusions.

The Board, including the Independent Trustees, evaluated this information along with other information obtained throughout the year and was advised by legal counsel to the Funds, which also serves as independent legal counsel to the Independent Trustees. In addition, the Independent Trustees considered a past review of their overall process for conducting the annual review of the Funds’ advisory arrangements by an independent consultant retained through their counsel.

The Board took into consideration regular reports from the Adviser and Sub-Adviser throughout the COVID-19 pandemic public health crisis concerning how the ongoing pandemic has affected market volatility, investment risk and the implementation and effectiveness of business continuity plans. These reports also had confirmed that the pandemic had no material impact on the Adviser’s (or the Sub-Adviser’s) operations.

The Board considered each Fund’s advisory fee, expense ratio and investment performance as significant factors in determining whether the Agreements should be continued. The Board reviewed numbers factors with respect to each Fund, including the services to be provided by the Sub-Adviser. In considering whether the compensation paid to the Adviser was fair and reasonable, the Board also evaluated, among other things, the following factors:

- The requirements of the Funds for the services provided by the Adviser;
- The nature, quality and extent of the services provided and expected to be provided;
- The performance of the Funds as compared to comparable funds;
- The fees payable for the services and whether the fee arrangements provided for economies of scale that would benefit Fund shareholders as the Funds grow;
- Whether the fee would be sufficient to enable the Adviser to attract and retain experienced personnel and continue to provide quality services to the Funds;
- The fees paid by other clients of the Adviser whose accounts are managed in a similar investment style and any differences in the services provided to the other clients compared to those provided to the Funds;
- The total expenses of each Fund;
- Management’s commitment to operating the Funds at competitive expense levels;
- The profitability of the Adviser (as reflected by comparing fees earned against an estimate of the Adviser’s costs) with respect to the Adviser’s relationship with the Funds;
- Research and other service benefits received by the Adviser obtained through payment of client commissions for securities transactions;
- Other benefits received by the Adviser, and its affiliates, including revenues paid to the Adviser, or its affiliates, by the Funds for administration and fund accounting services, and distribution;
- The capabilities and financial condition of the Adviser;
- Current economic and industry trends; and
- The historical relationship between each Fund and the Adviser.

In considering whether the compensation paid to the Sub-Adviser was fair and reasonable, the Board also evaluated, among other things, the following factors:

- The requirements of the Fund for the services provided by the Sub-Adviser;
- The nature, quality and extent of the services provided and expected to be provided;

- The fees payable for the services;
- Representations by the Adviser that the sub-advisory fee for the Fund is within the range of fees agreed to in the market for similar services;
- Whether the fee would be sufficient to enable the Sub-Adviser to attract and retain experienced personnel and continue to provide quality services to the Fund;
- Management's commitment to operating the Fund at competitive expense levels;
- Research and other service benefits received by the Sub-Adviser obtained through payment of client commissions for securities transactions;
- Other benefits received by the Sub-Adviser as a result of its sub-advisory relationship with the Fund;
- The capabilities and financial condition of the Sub-Adviser;
- The nature, quality and extent of the oversight and compliance services provided by the Adviser;
- The historical relationship between the predecessor fund and the Sub-Adviser; and
- Current economic and industry trends.

The Board reviewed each Fund's current management fee, comprised of the advisory fee plus the administrative services fee paid to the Adviser, in the context of the Adviser's profitability with respect to each Fund individually. In addition, the Board compared each Fund's gross management fee and total operating expense ratio on a net and gross basis with the median gross management fee and median expense ratio of a universe of comparable mutual funds compiled by an independent consultant, and a peer group of funds with similar investment strategies selected by that independent consultant from the universe of comparable funds. The Board reviewed the factors and methodology used by the independent consultant in the selection of each Fund's peer group, including the independent consultant's selection of a broad universe of funds, the more specific universe of comparable funds, and peer groups of funds with comparable investment strategies and asset levels, among other factors. The Board also reviewed any changes to the independent consultant's methodology as compared to the prior year, including those resulting from the Adviser's input, if any. With respect to certain Funds, the Board also reviewed fees and other information related to the Adviser's management of similarly managed institutional or private accounts, and the differences in the services provided to the other accounts. The Board noted that none of the advisory fee arrangements for the Funds included breakpoints, which are generally viewed as a method by which an investment adviser shares any economies of scale with a fund as a fund grows. The Board also considered the Adviser's commitment to limit expenses as discussed in more detail below, and would consider breakpoints at a future time if a Fund's assets were to grow significantly.

The Board also reviewed the compliance and administrative services provided to the Funds by the Adviser and its affiliates, including the Adviser's oversight of the Funds' day-to-day operations and oversight of Fund accounting, assistance in meeting legal and regulatory requirements, and other services necessary for the operation of the Funds and the Trust.

With respect to the Global Natural Resources Fund, the Board also considered information concerning the fee paid to the Sub-Adviser under the Sub-Advisory Agreement. The Board considered the relative roles and responsibilities of the Adviser and Sub-Adviser with respect to the Fund and noted that, among other things: (1) the sub-advisory fees for the Fund are paid by the Adviser and, therefore, are not a direct expense of the Fund; and (2) the Adviser supervises the Sub-Adviser. The Board also considered the Adviser's representation that the fees to be paid to the Sub-Adviser are within the range of sub-advisory fees paid to other sub-advisers for similar services. The Board reviewed fees and other information related to the Sub-Adviser's management of similarly managed institutional or private accounts, and the differences in the services provided to the other accounts. The Board recognized that because the sub-advisory fees are paid by the Adviser, any arrangement by the Sub-Adviser to reduce its fee as the Fund grows would have no direct impact on the Fund or its shareholders.

The Board found that the gross annual management fee paid by each Fund was within the range of management fees paid by each Fund's respective peer group. The Board also found that each Fund's Class A net annual expense ratio, taking into account any shareholder servicing or distribution fees, was reasonable as compared with each Fund's respective peer group. The Board considered the Adviser's contractual agreement with each

(Unaudited)

Fund to waive its fees and reimburse expenses of certain classes for a specified period of time, as described in the Fund's prospectus.

The Board reviewed each Fund's performance over one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods (as applicable) against the performance of the Fund's selected peer group and benchmark index. The Board recognized that the performance of the Fund and the peer group funds are net of expenses, while the performance of the benchmark index reflects gross returns.

The Board reviewed various other specific factors with respect to each Fund, as described below. In their deliberations, the Trustees did not rank the importance of any particular information or factor considered and each Trustee may have attributed different weights to various factors.

RS Partners Fund

The Board compared the Fund's Class A performance for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods ended June 30, 2020, to that of the median performance of the Fund's peer group and benchmark index for the same periods and considered the fact that the Fund outperformed the benchmark index for the three- and five-year periods, underperformed the benchmark index for the one- and ten-year periods, and underperformed the peer group median for all of the periods reviewed. The Board brought the Fund's underperformance to management's attention and discussed with the Adviser any steps that had been or could be taken to enhance performance in the future.

Having considered, among other things: (1) the Fund's management fee compared to comparable mutual funds; (2) the Fund's total expense ratio compared to comparable mutual funds; (3) that the Adviser's willingness to limit the expenses of certain classes for a period of time would provide stability to the Fund's expenses for those share classes during that period; and (4) the Fund's performance during the periods reviewed, the Board concluded that the Agreement continued to be in the best interests of the Fund's shareholders.

RS Value Fund

The Board compared the Fund's Class A performance for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods ended June 30, 2020, to that of the median performance of the Fund's peer group and benchmark index for the same periods and considered the fact that the Fund underperformed the benchmark index for all of the periods reviewed, with the exception of the three-year period, and underperformed the peer group median for all of the periods reviewed. The Board brought the Fund's underperformance to management's attention and discussed with the Adviser any steps that had been or could be taken to enhance performance in the future.

Having considered, among other things: (1) the Fund's management fee compared to comparable mutual funds; (2) the Fund's total expense ratio compared to comparable mutual funds; (3) that the Adviser's willingness to limit the expenses of certain classes for a period of time would provide stability to the Fund's expenses for those share classes during that period; and (4) the Fund's performance during the periods reviewed, the Board concluded that the Agreement continued to be in the best interests of the Fund's shareholders.

RS Large Cap Alpha Fund

The Board compared the Fund's Class A performance for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods ended June 30, 2020, to that of the median performance of the Fund's peer group and benchmark index for the same periods and considered the fact that the Fund underperformed the benchmark index for all of the periods reviewed, with the exception of the three-year period, and underperformed the peer group median for all of the periods reviewed. The Board brought the Fund's underperformance to management's attention and discussed with the Adviser any steps that had been or could be taken to enhance performance in the future.

Having considered, among other things: (1) the Fund's management fee compared to comparable mutual funds; (2) the Fund's total expense ratio compared to comparable mutual fund; (3) that the Adviser's willingness to limit the expenses of certain classes for a period of time would provide stability to the Fund's expenses for those share classes during that period; and (4) the Fund's performance during the periods reviewed, the Board concluded that the Agreement continued to be in the best interests of the Fund's shareholders.

RS Investors Fund

The Board compared the Fund's Class A performance for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods ended June 30, 2020, to that of the median performance of the Fund's peer group and benchmark index for the same periods and considered the fact that the Fund underperformed the benchmark index for all of the periods reviewed, and underperformed the peer group median for all of the periods reviewed, with the exception of the ten-year period. The Board brought the Fund's underperformance to management's attention and discussed with the Adviser any steps that had been or could be taken to enhance performance in the future.

Having considered, among other things: (1) the Fund's management fee compared to comparable mutual funds; (2) the Fund's total expense ratio compared to comparable mutual fund; (3) that the Adviser's willingness to limit the expenses of certain classes for a period of time would provide stability to the Fund's expenses for those share classes during that period; and (4) the Fund's performance during the periods reviewed, the Board concluded that the Agreement continued to be in the best interests of the Fund's shareholders.

Global Natural Resources Fund

The Board compared the Fund's Class A performance for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods ended June 30, 2020, to that of the median performance of the Fund's peer group and benchmark index for the same periods and considered the fact that the Fund underperformed both the benchmark index and the peer group median for all of the periods reviewed. The Board noted its numerous discussions with the Adviser and Sub-Adviser throughout the year, and in prior years, about, among other things, the Fund's investment strategy, the Adviser's and Sub-Adviser's implementation of the strategy, and related market conditions, together with relevant fee and expense considerations. The Board also discussed the steps taken by the Adviser and Sub-Adviser to enhance performance in the future, and the Board's continued monitoring of the Fund's performance.

Having considered, among other things: (1) the Fund's management fee compared to comparable mutual funds; (2) the Fund's total expense ratio compared to comparable mutual funds; (3) that the Adviser's willingness to limit the expenses of certain classes for a period of time would provide stability to the Fund's expenses for those share classes during that period; and (4) the Fund's performance during the periods reviewed, the Board concluded that the Agreement continued to be in the best interests of the Fund's shareholders.

Conclusion

Based on its review of the information requested and provided, and following extended discussions, the Board determined that the Agreement, on behalf of the Funds discussed above, was consistent with the best interests of each Fund and its shareholders, and the Board unanimously approved the Agreement, on behalf of each Fund, for an additional annual period on the basis of the foregoing review and discussions and the following considerations, among others:

- The fairness and reasonableness of the investment advisory fee payable to the Adviser under the Agreement in light of the investment advisory services provided, the costs of these services, the profitability of the Adviser's relationship with the Fund and the comparability of the fee paid to the fees paid by other investment companies;
- The nature, quality and extent of the investment advisory services provided by the Adviser;
- The Adviser's entrepreneurial commitment to the management of the Funds and the creation of a broad-based family of funds, which could entail a substantial commitment of the Adviser's resources to the successful operation of the Funds;
- The Adviser's representations regarding its staffing and capabilities to manage the Funds, including the retention of personnel with relevant portfolio management experience;
- The Adviser's efforts to enhance investment results by, among other things, developing quality portfolio management teams; and
- The overall high quality of the personnel, operations, financial condition, investment management capabilities, methodologies and performance of the Adviser.

Based on its review of the information requested and provided, and following extended discussions, the Board concluded, among other things, that the Sub-Advisory Agreement, with respect to the Global Natural Resources

(Unaudited)

Fund, was consistent with the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders and unanimously approved the Sub-Advisory Agreement (including the fees to be charged for services thereunder), on the basis of the foregoing review and discussions and the following considerations, among others:

- The fairness and reasonableness of the investment advisory fee payable to the Sub-Adviser under the Sub-Advisory Agreement in light of the investment advisory services provided, the costs of these services and the estimated profitability of the Sub-Adviser's relationship with the Fund;
- The nature, quality and extent of the investment advisory services provided by the portfolio management team of the Sub-Adviser, which have resulted in the Fund achieving its stated investment objective;
- The Sub-Adviser's representations regarding its staffing and capabilities to manage the Fund; and
- The overall high quality of the personnel, operations, financial condition, investment management capabilities, methodologies and performance of the Sub-Adviser.
