Performance shown represents past performance and cannot guarantee future results.

Current performance may be lower or higher than that shown. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate. Shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Total returns assume the reinvestment of all distributions at net asset value and the deduction of all expenses. Performance would have been lower if fees had not been waived in various periods. Performance data current to the most recent month-end is available at www.wilmingtonfunds.com.

¹Effective August 3, 2015, the fund's investment advisor shifted its primary tactical asset allocation approach away from investment style (e.g., growth or value) towards economic sector allocation. Currently, the investment advisor's tactical allocation is based primarily on the economic sectors of the fund's benchmark index (Russell 1000 Index). Please see the prospectus for additional information on the principal investment strategies of the fund.

²The fund's advisor, distributor and shareholder services provider have agreed to waive their fees and/or reimburse expenses so that the total annual fund operating expenses paid by the fund's Class I Shares will not exceed 0.25%, not including the effects of taxes or other extraordinary expenses. This waiver may be amended or withdrawn after August 31, 2022, or with the agreement of the fund's Board of Trustees. Please see the prospectus for more information on fees, expenses, and expense limitation arrangements, if any.

Investment style

The style box reflects the investment manager's classification of the fund by its investment style (value, blend, growth) on the horizontal axis and by the market capitalization of its holdings (small, medium, large) on the vertical axis. The investment manager determines the fund's classification based on the investment strategy and process outlined in the prospectus. The classification will remain the same unless changed by the fund's mandate.

Important Information And Risk Disclosure

All investments involve risk, including possible loss of principal. Equity securities are subject to price fluctuation and possible loss of principal. Small- and mid-cap stocks involve greater risks and volatility than large-cap stocks. International investments are subject to special risks, including currency fluctuations and social, economic, and political uncertainties, which could increase volatility. These risks are magnified in emerging markets. There is no assurance that any investment strategy will be successful.

P/E ratio is a valuation ratio of a company's current share price compared to its per-share earnings. P/B ratio is used to compare a stock's market value to its book value. Turnover is a measure of the fund's trading activity which represents the portion of the fund's holdings that has changed over a year. There is no assurance that the fund will maintain its current level of turnover. Alpha is a measure of performance on a risk-adjusted basis. The excess return of the fund relative to the return of the benchmark index is a fund's alpha. Beta is a measure of a portfolio's volatility, or systematic risk, in comparison to the market as a whole. A beta below 1 indicates less volatility than the market; a higher beta indicates more volatility. R-squared measures how closely a fund's performance correlates with that of its benchmark, thus representing how much of the fund's performance can be explained by the overall market or index. 1 indicates perfect correlation; 0 indicates no correlation. Sharpe ratio refers to a risk-adjusted measure calculated using standard deviation and excess returns to determine reward per unit of risk. The higher the ratio, the greater the risk-adjusted performance. Standard deviation indicates the percentage by which a portfolio's performance has varied from its average performance in any given month during the period indicated. The higher the standard deviation, the greater the range of performance, indicating greater volatility.

The Russell 1000 Index measures the performance of the 1,000 largest companies in the Russell 3000 Index, which represents approximately 92% of the total market capitalization of the Russell 3000 Index. Please note that an investor cannot invest directly in an index.
