Index approach

Market exposure

Define the target range of securities for the specific index.

Portfolio structure

Weight the index to emphasize smaller companies, lower valuations, and higher profitability.†

Implementation

Incorporate measured flexibility to maintain focus on the appropriate factors while balancing the trade-offs among competing premiums and control for unnecessary turnover and trading costs through the use of Index Memory® and innovation between rebalances:

- Momentum screens
Low momentum securities are flagged for no additional buys.
- Small weight changes
Avoid making changes that do not meaningfully improve the expected return-and-risk profile of the overall index.
- Enhanced redistributions
When sizable securities are removed, proceeds are allocated to increase factor exposure and potentially reduce turnover.

Market performance is determined using the bid/ask midpoint at 4 P.M., Eastern time, when the NAV is typically calculated; your returns may differ if you traded shares at other times. NAV is calculated by dividing the total value of all the securities in the fund's portfolio plus cash, interest, and receivables, minus any liabilities, by the number of fund shares outstanding

The past performance shown here reflects reinvested distributions and the beneficial effect of any expense reductions, and does not guarantee future results. Returns for periods shorter than one year are cumulative. Shares will fluctuate in value and, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance cited. For the most recent month-end performance, visit jhinvestments.com/etf.

<sup>1</sup> The John Hancock Dimensional Healthcare Index is a rules-based index of U.S. healthcare stocks that have been selected based on sources of expected returns. Securities eligible for inclusion in the index are classified according to their market capitalization, as defined by free-float market cap; relative price, as defined by price/book; and profitability, as defined by operating income over book, and are weighted accordingly in favor of smaller, less expensive, more profitable companies. The index is reconstituted and rebalanced on a semiannual basis. Index performance assumes reinvestment of dividends and, unless otherwise indicated, does not reflect the management fees, operating expenses, transaction costs, and other expenses that apply to an ETF. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The Russell 1000 Healthcare Index tracks stocks in the healthcare sector of the Russell 1000 Index. It is not possible to invest directly in an index. <sup>2</sup> Effective 9/21/20, the underlying components of the Russell 1000 Healthcare Index reflect a new company classification methodology. Consequently, the custom blended benchmark's performance consists of 100% of the prior methodology through 9/18/20 and 100% of the current methodology thereafter. <sup>3</sup> "Net (what you pay)" represents the effect of a contractual fee waiver and/or expense reimbursement and is subject to change.

What you should know before investing

Investing involves risks, including the potential loss of principal. There is no guarantee that a fund's investment strategy will be successful. The fund is non-diversified, and a portfolio concentrated in one industry or sector or that holds a limited number of securities may fluctuate more than a diversified portfolio. The stock prices of midsize and small companies can change more frequently and dramatically than those of large companies, and value stocks may decline in price. Shares may trade at a premium or discount to their NAV in the secondary market, and a fund's holdings and returns may deviate from those of its index. These variations may be greater when markets are volatile or subject to unusual conditions. Errors in the construction or calculation of a fund's index may occur from time to time. Please see the fund's prospectus for additional risks.

John Hancock Multifactor Exchange-Traded Fund (ETF) shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV), and are not individually redeemed from the fund. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.
