

ALPS Emerging Sector Dividend Dogs ETF

Fact Sheet | December 31, 2022

VALUE, INCOME, DIVERSIFICATION

The ALPS Emerging Sector Dividend Dogs ETF (EDOG) is an Exchange-Traded Fund that applies the 'Dogs of the Dow Theory' on a sector-by-sector basis using the S-Network Emerging Markets Index as its starting universe of eligible securities. This strategy provides the following potential benefits:

- High Yield Relative to Emerging Markets Broad Based Indices – Starting with a smaller, quality universe such as the S-Net Emerging Sector Dividend Dogs Index diminishes the likelihood of troubled and financially distressed companies entering the Index and allows dividend yield to be the primary selection criterion for the Index.
- Sector, Stock and Country Diversification – EDOG provides high dividend exposure across 10 sectors of the market that make up the S-Net Emerging Markets Index (excluding the real estate sector) by selecting the five highest yielding securities in each sector and equally weighting them. In addition, the country representation is capped at five eligible securities per country. This methodology provides diversification at the sector, stock and country level.
- Dogs Theory – EDOG isolates the S-Net Emerging Markets Index constituents with the highest dividend yield in their respective sectors providing the potential for price appreciation as market forces bring their yield into line with the overall market.

² S-Network Emerging Sector Dividend Dogs Index: a rules-based index intended to give investors a means of tracking the overall performance of the highest dividend paying stocks in the S-Network Emerging Markets Index, a universe of mainly large capitalization stocks domiciled in emerging markets on a sector-by-sector basis. Emerging market countries are countries that major international financial institutions, such as the World Bank, generally consider to be less economically mature than developed nations.

³ Morningstar Emerging Markets Index: captures the performance of the stocks located in the emerging countries across the world. Stocks in the index are weighted by their float capital, which removes corporate cross ownership, government holdings and other locked-in shares.

Performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance is no guarantee of future results; current performance may be higher or lower than performance quoted.

All investments are subject to risks, including the loss of money and the possible loss of the entire principal amount invested. Additional information regarding the risks of this investment is available in the prospectus.

Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.

The Fund's investments in non-US issuers may involve unique risks compared to investing in securities of US issuers, including, among others, less liquidity generally, greater market volatility than US securities and less complete financial information than for US issuers. In addition, adverse political, economic or social developments could undermine the value of the Fund's investments or prevent the Fund from realizing the full value of its investments. Finally, the value of the currency of the country in which the Fund has invested could decline relative to the value of the US dollar, which may affect the value of the investment to US investors.

The Fund employs a "passive management" - or indexing - investment approach and seeks investment results that correspond (before fees and expenses) generally to the performance of its underlying index. Unlike many investment companies, the Fund is not "actively" managed. Therefore, it would not necessarily sell or buy a security unless that security is removed from or added to the underlying index, respectively.

Dogs of the Dow Theory: an investment strategy which proposes that an investor annually select for investment the ten Dow Jones Industrial Average stocks whose dividend is the highest fraction of their price.
